Blueprint for Change

BEFORE YOU LOOK

1. What elements do you think would be included in a blueprint designed for change?
2. How might the image depict the process or planning involved in creating change?
3. What areas of life or society do you imagine this blueprint addressing?

This image captures a group of architects and local residents gathered around a blueprint in a public park, actively discussing plans to transform the area into a multifunctional community space. The setting is an existing urban park, with participants focused on integrating areas for various activities such as playgrounds, quiet zones, and sports facilities.
